Jackie,

The Army Corps has received the model from the Potentially Responsible Parties and begun working on their review; I went to the San Jacinto site with several Corps persons about 3 weeks ago so they could view the site & get familiar with it. The first of three reports is due in the latter part of January, then the second one in March, and the final one in April 2015, so as of now it's still on schedule.

Hi Gary,

I am scheduled to meet with my community leaders Tuesday and I was wondering if you could give me a brief update. I have been asked several times lately for an update on the Army Corps and if the schedule is still on track.

Thank you,
Jackie Young
